HTH Worldwide First to Contract with Premier Medical Clinic in London Offers Access to Top Consultants in Fifteen Specialties

July 30, 2014 (Radnor, PA) – HTH Worldwide, a leader and innovator in serving the health care needs of world travelers, announced today that they are the first expat insurer to contract with London’s premier new private health facility, London Claremont Clinic (LCC). Through this agreement HTH Worldwide members have cashless access to a range of specialist clinics, diagnostic tests and treatments from a team of professionals, including leaders in oncology and ophthalmology, dedicated to providing the highest standard of healthcare service to all their patients.

London Claremont Clinic fosters the team approach to managing complex diseases and conditions like those related to diabetes, oncology, immunology and allergy, complex eye diseases and more, as described by their CEO, Lana Kopanja, “London Claremont Clinic is founded on the principles that our Consultants meet the highest level of medical standards and patients receive the highest level of clinical expertise and care. Our clinic is staffed by a multidisciplinary team of medical practitioners, therapists, technicians, nursing and support staff which cover over 15 Specialties. Our integrated team works together to offer a seamless approach to an individual’s course of treatment. As well as being equipped with the most advanced medical equipment we offer the best services to meet your family’s healthcare needs.”

“HTH Worldwide members expect convenient access to high quality medical care all around the world,” said Laura Hilton, Director of Provider Relations. “We are delighted to partner with London Claremont Clinic, an organization that has created a single site for patient care and clearly places as much value on an exceptional member experience as we do.”
